PROFIT IN ASTERS

MRS. NANNO WOODS TELLS HOW
ONE BOY CLEARED $20
A DAY

Mrs. Nanno Woods asks all boys and girls to read the following account of what one boy in Chicago has done. What he managed to do, surely some of our own Glendale boys and girls can do, even if they make only half or quarter as much money.

Herbert Kirchoff, aged 17, made a successful combination of flower seeds, a vacant lot, and a good deal of energy; and the president of the Glendale Garden society wishes to point out this fact, that to be successful in anything, energy is needed. Young people who "would not be bothered," who think it "too much trouble," who are too lazy or indolent to exert themselves, never get anywhere in the long run. To have energy simply means to hustle; and the person now-a-days who does not hustle gets left behind.

Herbert Kirchoff had no intention of being left behind. He was employed in a publishing company to take orders and received $10 a week. In his spare time he got hold of a vacant lot and sowed aster seeds. In May he planted out the asters six inches apart; during the evenings of June and July and on Saturday afternoons and Sundays he worked among his plants. While at his office during the day, his asters bloomed radiantly.

Then he started to carrying two baskets of asters to a flower market each morning on his way to work. Every morning he picked 2000 blossoms for the market; always he got 1 cent apiece, sometimes 2 to 3 cents each. He says he sold $20 worth every day, and cleared $1000 during the season. After that he went into the florist business. Now, we cannot all live near a flourishing flower market; but with energy we can find and make markets for ourselves.

The president has already told in these pages of a young married man in Glendale who sold $150 worth of Chrysanthemums out of his back yard; he holds a position in a bank or some such office, and has no more and no less time than anybody else. He just made up his mind to do it, and he did it. He paid such attention to his flowers that he grew chrysanthemums of a very high order; the florists in Los Angeles were glad to give him his price, because he was able to offer them first-class stuff.

Any persevering boy or girl can sell to the wholesale, if they wish, or they can take orders at home from friends and neighbors, can sell their asters for social functions. But no one can sell asters or anything else, unless they do the right thing at the right time. Seeds have to be sown at the right time. They have to be watched, irrigated, set out at the right time and in the right way. Plants have to be tended, disbudded, in the right way.

Not everybody who grows flowers wants to sell them. Some people grow flowers just because they love them, because they want to look at them in the garden, and have them in vases in the home, and give them away to make other people happy. That is the ambition of the president of the Garden society and of many of its members. Mrs. Woods, however, realizes that pocket money is a very useful and a very desirable thing to have; she thinks it praiseworthy for boys and girls to prefer earning their own pocket money to be always asking and expecting their parents to provide them with money. So she is ready to help both those who would like to grow flowers for love and those who want to grow flowers for money.

Now is the time to sow aster seeds. During the summer holidays they need a good deal of attention, just when school is out and there is nothing else to do. Any boy or girl who wants to ask about starting asters can phone Mrs. Woods in the evenings, Glendale 394; or in the day-time at her office, Glendale 1357; or come to see her at her home at 1222 Milford street, or at her office, 1111 W. Broadway; or they can ask Miss White, special agricultural teacher, to help them.

Any girl can dig up a bit of her back yard (or get her father or big brother to do the digging) and Miss White or Mrs. Woods will go to her yard and show her how to plant the seeds, and tell her just what and when and how to do all that is necessary.

Mrs. Woods and Miss White would like to speak to groups of fathers and mothers, preferably in the evenings, about these things, and are ready to go anywhere in Tropico or Glendale to tell about the aster clubs they want to start, and the potato clubs now starting; about the hanging baskets and window boxes the Garden

ON RECIPROCITY DAY

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB
GIVES UNIQUE ENTERTAIN-MENT AT MASONIC TEMPLE

The Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale entertained at the Masonic Temple Tuesday afternoon, the guests being the clubs in the Los Angeles district. The program was presented by the Literary section of the club. Mrs. C. E. Harlan, curator of that section, was introduced by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the club. The program was taken from the topics which the Literary section had chosen for the year's study. Each number represented one of the nine topics taken up by this section. Mrs. Wayland Brown's cleverness and ability to take the year's work and arrange this splendid program from it displays much more than ordinary talent. The first number on the program was a violin solo, "Swing Song" by Miss Winnifred Jones, accompanied by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones on the piano. The "Cunning Sunbonnet Babies" in verse and song (costumed with their baby dresses and quain sunbonnets) were much appreciated. The "Little Ladies" were Mrs. O. W. Tarr, Miss May White, Mrs. J. H. Daugherty. Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, in her mystic oriental scene, was very realistic and wised.

The Russian folk dance, taken from Russian "Travel" and with Russian costume, was very graphically portrayed by Mrs. Blake Franklin, Mrs. H. D. Goss, Mrs. H. V. Everly and Mrs. I. J. McReynolds. In the one-act play, "The Soldier's Daughters," Mrs. Wayland Brown as stenographer, Mrs. G. C. Cable as actress and Miss Alice Frank as maid, showed much real talent in the parts taken.

Mrs. A. L. Weaver's story of "How the Robin Earned His Red Breast" was not only interesting to the little "Tots" in "Nights" to whom she told the story, but was eagerly listened to by the grown-up "little people" as well. She was represented as being a nun telling to two little people their "Good Night" story.

"Our Foreign-born Neighbors," in costume, representing almost every nation, each one looking the part of the nationality she represented, was so real that one could almost imagine the Tuesday Afternoon club had been transferred to Ellis Island, and were reviewing the crowd coming to our shores from the mother countries.

Mrs. Willisford, in her reading from Van Dyke's "The Lost Word," was at her best, her selection suiting her clear, well modulated voice, and the theme of the story was very impressive. Miss Abbie C. Terry's readings from the modern poet "Tagore" were pleasing, and Miss Terry proved to her hearers a perfect understanding of the author chosen.

The last act was "Epochs in California's History," with its Indians, Spaniards and cowboys in native costume. Mrs. William Herman West in "Chanson Espanole," and Mrs. Frank Arnold in "California Is Calling," brought very vividly to their hearers the characters they were impersonating. All the immigrants appeared in the last act and sang in perfectly good English, "I Love You California."

The president, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, then very graciously introduced Mrs. Freeman, District Chairman of Music; Mrs. Gleason, District Chairman of Parliamentary Usage, and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, District Chairman of Political Science. All of the ladies responded with words of greeting to the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. H. R. Boyer presided at the piano through the entire program in a very satisfactory manner. Her ability did much toward making the splendid program complete. Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. George E. Adams and her able assistants.

Edwin Henry Weston's prize world-famous pictures were kindly loaned to the club for the occasion. This rare treat was very much appreciated by our own people as well as the out-of-town guests.

Progress with economy is a very common and well worded slogan. If put into practice in lines of business it should bring good results.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair to-night and Friday; north winds.

society is encouraging young people to make; about the prizes to be offered the children and the awards of merit to be given adults at the Free Flower Show to be held in April; about the wild flowers to be gathered and entered for competition. Any invitation from any school or organization to speak to children or parents will be cheerfully accepted.

TURKS RESUME ARMENIAN MASSACRES

ADVICES RECEIVED IN SWITZERLAND STATE THAT OTOMANS HAVE SLAIN THOUSANDS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 10.—The Turks have resumed their work of slaughtering the Armenians. In this latest outbreak, thousands of old men, women and children have perished. The slaughter has been marked by the usual Turkish atrocities. Of the Armenians very few now remain and the Turks seem bent on taking the advice of one of their leaders who urged them to "wipe them out and get over with it."

SAY ZEPPELINS SANK BRITISH WARSHIPS

BERLIN REPORTS STATE THAT A CRUISER AND TWO DESTROYERS PERISHED IN LAST RAID

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—According to reports that have been published in this city the Zeppelins that have raided the English cities recently did more damage than is admitted by the British. Some of these reports state that the airships successfully dropped bombs on the British cruiser Caroline and two destroyers and sent them to the bottom.

SAYS BRANDEIS OPPOSED CAPITAL

THOMAS SPELLING OF NEW YORK BEARS WITNESS THAT JUDGE ELECT IS UNFIT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.—Before the Senate committee today in the Brandeis inquiry Thomas Spelling of New York, capitalist and railway man, testified that he thought Brandeis totally unfit for the position of Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Spelling said that he knew that Brandeis was strongly opposed to capital and had manifested his antagonism on various occasions.

APPALING LOSSES IN GERMAN DRIVE

RECENT ATTEMPT ON ALLIES' LINES COST 60,000 MORE MEN THAN BRITISH-FRENCH ATTACK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Feb. 10.—German attacks on the French and part of the British lines in the West have failed. All along the line whatever gains they made have been retaken, with the exception of a mine crater on the Neuville road. In most places they were repulsed with enormous slaughter. The drive cost the Teutons 60,000 more men than the Allies lost in the September drive.

NO CONFIRMATION OF ROON CAPTURE

NOTHING HEARD IN CAPITAL OF BERMUDA OF TAKING OF GERMAN RAIDERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 10.—There was no confirmation here today of the report that the British cruiser Drake had captured the German cruiser Roon and two armed merchantmen. There was no news received here from any quarter concerning the alleged running fight between the Drake and the German vessels. Reliable marine authorities here cannot understand whence the report can have been sent out.

REPORT MONTENEGRO WHOLLY DISARMED

AUSTRIANS STATE THAT CIVILIANS OF THE MOUNTAIN STATE ARE UNDER SUBJECTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

VIENNA, Feb. 10.—The Austrian war office today announced that the army of occupation had completed its work of disarming the population of Montenegro. More than 50,000 Austrian troops have been engaged in the work of settling the country. The Montenegrin army is making its way to the seaport of Durazzo, where it hopes to get conveyance to the Allies' lines at Saloniki.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—It was reported from Saloniki today that the Roumanian mobilization had been stopped suddenly. Commands, it was stated, had come from royal headquarters to cease mobilizing against Austria.

SINKING OF WELLS

ONE WELL ON PUMPING PLANT SITE YIELDS 187 MINER'S INCHES OF WATER

According to Public Service Manager Lynch the sinking of wells on the Brand Pumping site is proceeding in a very satisfactory manner. One well has been put down to a depth of 500 feet, with a 16-inch pipe. This well has water within 39 feet of the surface and yields on the pump 187 miner's inches. This is a highly satisfactory result. Another well is also being put down with 16-inch casing. This also will be 500 feet deep. At present it has reached a depth of 300 feet.

These wells will be supplementary to the city's water supply. The one that is now in working order is one of the best wells in the neighborhood. There is no well within miles of this place that has such a yield. When these wells are completed they will assure a constant water supply in times of great heat when a great deal of water is used; or in times of drought when more water is needed; or in time of fire when extra demand is made on the city's supply.

Progress is being made with the installation of 8-inch pipe on E. First street, from Glendale avenue to Verdugo road. This in connection with the 6-inch pipe recently installed on E. Third street will make a great improvement on the water situation in that section and will insure considerably greater protection in case of fire.

Quite a large quantity of cast iron pipe, both 6-inch and 8-inch, which was ordered a month ago, is beginning to be delivered. The quantity of pipe will probably be about 2700 feet in length.

In connection with the East First street work a good many hydrants have been installed. Hydrants have also been put in along E. Second St.

Recently the Railroad Commission of the State of California requested the City of Glendale to supply information concerning the method of operating the city's water system. The Public Service department replied to this communication at length giving many interesting details.

Among other things the report stated that: "Controlling accounts cover cash material and invoices. Consumers are given a service number which is the folio and line number on which their account is entered in the ledger. These are entered alphabetically as to streets and consecutively as to number with sufficient space left between accounts for handling new customers, and blank numbers between pages for allowing for new streets so that an account can be referred to either by service number or by street number. The service number is most convenient.

"Information as to name, house number, etc., in the ledger is contained on a fly-sheet inserted between the leaves so that at the end of a year it is only necessary to run in new sheets for the new year's business. Details concerning customers and service are carried on the customer's card filed by service number.

"Bad bills have run about one-tenth of one per cent. This is no greater than those of the larger corporations in this neighborhood, which shut off promptly for non-payment. The water and light systems pay all their own interest and bond redemption, make proper allowances for depreciation and make all ordinary extensions out of income. All that is done in face of the fact that the rates are among the lowest in this section."

PUT ON PROBATION

Dick Royce, who was arrested Monday by Patrolman Hollenbeck, on a charge of misdemeanor and resisting an officer, and was held in bail of $100 to answer to the charge, was brought before Judge Whomes' court Wednesday at 2 p. m. Royce was defended by Attorney Albert Pearce. The charge of resisting an officer was dropped and on the misdemeanor charge Royce was fined $25. The fine was suspended and Royce placed on probation in the charge of one of his relatives. The offense charged consisted of exploding firecrackers in bottles on the public street.

SNEAK THIEF IN SCHOOL

Considerable annoyance has been caused by the actions of some sneak thief or kleptomaniac who has been operating in the Third Street school. Various small articles have been missed by the children there from time to time. Books have been stolen and small pieces of personal property have vanished in most bewildering manner. Recently the master key to the children's lockers was missed. It is suspected that it may have been stolen. If not found the locks must all be changed. Investigation of the matter is being made.

TROUBLE YET TO COME

REV. JOHN TROY OUTLINES SCRIPTURAL PROPHECY ABOUT THE FINAL STRUGGLE

The Rev. John Troy, pastor of the First Baptist church, who has made a special study of eschatology, which is the science of the things that shall be in the last days, says:

"According to the prophetic word the iron of autocracy and the clay of democracy will mix in a dangerous compound toward and up to the close of the present dispensation. The gears of democracy will be stripped by the sudden shock of autocracy. Dan. 2:40-45 treats of the coming final struggle between these two motions of government.

"According to the prophetic word the world may look for an absolute dictator of universal hegemony. The struggle of the masses for popular government expressed in constitutional rights will end in the tyranny of an absolute Caesar. Dan. 7:23-28 is one of the clearest statements of the coming world ruler.

"According to the prophetic word the time of the world's greatest trouble is yet to come, 'such as never was since there was a nation.' The coming time of trouble is spoken of in Dan. 12:1.

"According to the prophetic word there is yet to be a system more efficient and binding than the Prussian absolutism. Human beings are to be ticketed, uniformed and drilled out of all personality. Read of the coming system in Rev. 13:16-18.

"According to the prophetic word all the nations of the earth will reel and stagger in drunken debauch. Rev. 14:18 speaks of the coming international intoxication.

"According to the prophetic word we may look for coalition of the nations of the earth aimed principally at God's chosen nation Israel. Rev. 16:13-16.

"According to the prophetic word Waterloo will be eclipsed by the coming battle of Armageddon. Rev. 19:17-21.

"According to the prophetic word, beyond the judgments of God, we look for a glorious kingdom of righteousness in which Israel, the Jews, will be the head, God's royal family. God will fit the Jews by suffering to rule the world. The Davidic covenant will be consummated when Christ the Son of David is seated upon the throne of Israel in the royal palace of Jerusalem, the capital of the world. Rev. 19:17-21.

"Watch the columns of The News for special announcements of coming events at the First Baptist church of Glendale."

RECEPTION COURTESY

Nearly a hundred members of the First Congregational Church and their friends responded to the invitations issued for the reception tendered the recently new members of the church and congregation, held in the hall of the church last night.

Rev. Willisford conducted a short devotional service and spoke a few minutes on "Prayer and Praise." Following a delightfully pleasing program was given and during the social hour the hospitality committee served light refreshments.

SICK AND MISSING FOR DAYS

P. E. Dion, who has resided for some time at the northeast corner of Ninth and Granada streets, created quite a sensation in that locality during the past few days, when he was missed from his accustomed haunts and his place was neglected and his chickens unfed. The neighbors, thinking that Dion had gone out of town and would be back shortly, fed his chickens and notified the

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1916

FIGHTING THE TUBERCULOSIS EVIL

According to the powers conferred on it by law the State Board of Health is empowered to maintain a bureau of tuberculosis for the complete and proper registration of all tuberculous persons within the State. This bureau is doing excellent work in supervising hospitals, dispensaries, sanatoria, and other institutions throughout California and in advising penal and charitable institutions regarding the proper care of tuberculous inmates. It is also conducting a highly useful educational and publicity work regarding the methods of handling the disease and combatting it.

Just at present there is a bill in Congress providing for a federal subsidy to aid in the care of non-resident tuberculous cases. This bill undoubtedly concerns California very intimately. A very large number of tuberculosis cases enter California every year from other states. This has been discussed in these columns several times and it has been pointed out that the expense and care of these cases is hardly a legitimate demand on the state. That such cases should be cared for in federal institutions would be a good thing for the state and for the patients. The state would be relieved of some of the portion of a burden which it has cheerfully assumed hitherto, but relief from part of which would be no more than just. The patients too would receive better care and more efficacious treatment in federal institutions specially fitted for the care of tuberculous cases. It is not right in any case to treat tuberculosis in the common hospital. It is equally shortsighted to permit tuberculous parties to become centers of contagion in their homes.

At present every city, county, city and county, or group of counties which establishes and maintains a tuberculosis ward or hospital shall receive from the state the sum of $3 per week for each person in the active stages of tuberculosis, cared for therein at the public expense, who is unable to pay for his support and who has no relatives legally liable and financially able to pay for his support, and who has been a bona fide resident of such city, etc. for one year. It is supposed that the places receiving this aid conform to the regulations of the state bureau of tuberculosis. Everybody is interested in this work as the stamping out of tuberculosis is imperative for the welfare of humanity.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN PERSIA

Persia is one of the smaller countries of the world that has suffered greatly from the operations of the different parties engaged in the war in Europe. Persia, unfortunately for itself, lies on the pathway to the vast wealth of the Orient. Britain has established a kind of protectorate in the south of the country and Russia a similar rule in the north. These foreign powers have agreed between themselves as to the limits of their rule.

This was bad enough before the war broke out. Russia and Britain had conflicting interests. Russia is ever seeking an outlet to the sea and the other powers, backed by Britain have consistently denied this access. Russia tried to break through at Constantinople and failed because held back by Britain. She also tried to break through Persia and was stopped there also by the ubiquitous British redcoats and warships.

The best that Russia could acquire was the understanding that she might exercise her influence in the northern part of the country. This she has been doing for some time. However this reign of mutual interests was rudely broken in upon by Germany which country has maintained for many years past one of the most elaborate systems of secret agents and spies in every country on the globe. Persia was a favorite hunting ground for these agents. The head of the spy system in Persia was one Herr Wassmuss, a former German consul at Bushire, who did his utmost to render the British position there untenable by stirring up the natives to rebellion against their own rulers and also against the British rulers.

Never in the history of secret service, not even during the world's campaign of the Boer oligarchies when the Transvaal alone spent as much as $4,000,000 a year for the purpose of working up anti-British sentiment throughout the world, has so much money been expended on a single nation in the way of secret service as the German government spent on Persia. The efforts of Herr Wassmuss were rewarded by the trouble created for both Russia and Britain.

Persia is a neutral nation and as such should be respected. But such has not been the case. Of course in war it may be and has been argued since this outbreak in Europe, everything is permissible; so that it need not be wondered at that activities of the most extraordinary kind have been considered legitimate in Persia. This policy persisted in Germany has brought Persia to a very sorry pass; but, "What of that?" argue the secret service men of the Teutonic empire when Britain and Russia have had so much trouble created for them that they have had to divert to Persia some portion of their troops who might otherwise have been on the fighting line in Galicia, Bessarabia or in the trenches at Dixmude.

In Teheran, the northern capital of Persia the Russians are thus far supreme and have taken control over the Persians in all the surrounding districts. In the south there are many marauding tribes who are giving the British occupants of that section a great deal of trouble and fighting. Just at present it may be well for Persia that the strong hands of Russia and Britain are there; but it is difficult to see any end until the European war closes.

Notwithstanding the horrors of the European war there is a great deal of good in humanity. Even in the midst of the war we read of amenities being exchanged between the fighting men of the different nations. It is possible that, as in the Crusades the conscience of the world is becoming enlightened through this war and the knowledge of the world broadened; while East and West, North and South are coming to understand each other in a manner they might otherwise not have done. In this way the war with all of its miseries has wakened in the great heart of the United States a strong wave of sympathy for the persecuted and badly treated Jews, who are between the upper and nether millstones in every country of Europe at present. American charity may well be extended to those unfortunate people and the bread thus cast upon the waters will return to this land after many days.

MEETING FOR JEWISH RELIEF

Arrangements have now been made by which Mayor Lane will act as chairman of the mass meeting that is to be held in the Palace Grand theater Sunday, Feb. 13, for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of the Jewish sufferers in Europe. Mr. Lane will also act as treasurer for the relief committee and all contributions for this most laudable purpose can be sent to him. Mrs. W. Herman West has consented to sing on that occasion and the Hearst-Vitagraph company will take moving pictures of the audience and platform.

The committee is much gratified at the interest that is being taken in the movement. It is earnestly urged on the community that they be present on the occasion of the mass meeting and assist the movement by liberally contributing to the relief funds. No more worthy cause has been presented to the public at any time and the need for relief is sore and pressing. While we are even writing and speaking the unfortunate Jews are dying by thousands. Timely relief would save many of those unfortunate people.

THOS. D. OGG ENTERS RACE

Thos D. Ogg of 149 S. Kenwood street has entered the race as a candidate for trustee of the City of Glendale. Mr. Ogg is a native of Virginia and for 23 years he has been a resident of California, being a resident of Glendale since the city's incorporation. Mr. Ogg's life work was railroading, but the time came when legitimate investments placed him in a position financially that he is able to live a retired life. He is a gentleman of great energy and when the vehicle in which he is riding runs too slow he is willing to get off and push. His actions in this campaign will demonstrate that he is both a pusher and a puller.

GIVE DINNER PARTY

A dinner party will be given this evening in the charming home of Dr. and Mrs. Colin Cable at 755 Columbus avenue, when covers will be placed for Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy W. Boscman, Mrs. C. Evans of Los Angeles and the Cables. Pink enameled carnations and ferns will beautify the dinner board center and Acacia blossoms will adorn the living-room. Mrs. Cable had as luncheon guests on Wednesday Mrs. Collins Bennett and Miss Gertrude Bennett of Manhattan Place, Los Angeles.

ty last Wednesday. The other guests were Los Angeles and Hollywood friends.

Mr. Ludlow Robbins of Los Angeles has purchased from George J. Shoehorn two houses on Ruth street, also other properties located on Pioneer Drive, Stocker street and Remington street, formerly owned by the Hammond Lumber company. Mr. Robbins is having the places repainted and put into condition for renting or sale.

REPORT RAIDERS CAPTURED

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The Globe today printed a Bermuda dispatch saying British battleship Drake had captured the German cruiser Roon and two armed merchantmen with 32 officers and 719 men after a three hours' running fight north of Bermuda. The Roon was one of the raiders crept with the capture of the British liner Appam.

NEW STREET SIGN

A new idea in street signs has been developed in San Francisco, where the device has met with a favorable reception. A section of the curb is removed at the corner, and in its place is inserted a heavy iron case of the same dimensions. This shell is perforated with a series of holes, forming the letters that spell the name of the street, and each hole is covered with thick glass. Within the case are lights that illuminate the letters by night, so that the sign is very conspicuous. As the letters are outlined in white paint, the name is equally legible by daylight.—The American Boy.

Personals

Miss Ruth Browne spent the week end at home with her mother, Mrs. R. N. Browne of 1620 Stocker street.

Master Lester Welsh of Los Angeles is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. Charles Josselyn, of 1639 Ruth street.

Mrs. C. H. Tustin of Los Angeles was the guest for the day of her sister, Mrs. J. Duane Moore, of 1603 Burchett street, last Tuesday.

Mrs. C. M. Good of 875 South Louise street has entered the Los Angeles Times auto contest and is a most deserving contestant.

Arriving Friday, Miss Geraldine Bond of Compton is to be a guest over Sunday of the Misses Cornwell at 311 South Kenwood street.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto M. Clinton of 1616 Ruth street were guests of Mrs. Clinton's father, Mr. E. R. Burnett of Los Angeles, the first of the week.

Mrs. Judson L. Mead of 1648 Ruth street entertained for the day on Wednesday of this week Mrs. U. S. Moffatt and two children of Belvedere District, Los Angeles.

The many friends of Mr. John T. Crampton, who has been dangerously ill at his home, 1011 Chestnut street, will be pleased to know that he now is steadily improving.

Miss Carrie Cornwell will entertain the X. V. I. club with a Kensington tea at the Cornwell home, 311 South Kenwood street, Saturday afternoon, February 12.

The Wm. Woods of 1630 West Broadway will have as dinner and overnight guests their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Woods and wee daughter, of Los Angeles.

Today Mrs. C. E. Laufer of 1427 Burchett street was the honoree at a luncheon courtesy presided over by Mrs. Jessie Miller in her attractive home at Pico and Fedora streets, Los Angeles.

Mr. Nat Brown of 1620 Stocker street left on Sunday by boat for San Diego, to be absent the entire week. Mr. Brown, well known to the "racket" fans, will take part in the tennis tournament being held in the southern city.

Mrs. Walter N. Stamps of 1306 Lomita avenue left Wednesday evening for Banning, California, remaining away from home for about two weeks in the hope of fully regaining her health, following a severe attack of la grippe.

Mr. J. H. Redman of 450 Broadway, who has been paying a visit to his son at Pomona, returned this week. The son, Mr. A. R. Redman, is principal of the school at Pomona. Mr. Redman's little granddaughter Helen came with him to Glendale on a visit.

Miss Lillian Balfour and Mr. Clyde Balfour, prominent in the smart set of Pomona, will be house guests of the C. B. Wildes in their attractive home at 238 North Louise street over Friday and Saturday, being also among the out-of-town guests attending the Saint Margaret Guild dance.

Among members of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale attending the Reciprocity day "at home" given by the Eagle Rock Woman's club this afternoon are Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president; Mesdames H. Lee Clotworthy, Frank Grosvenor, A. L. Weaver, Mattison Boyd Jones, Frederick Baker, Arthur Brown, J. W. Ulliton, S. C. Packer, I. Siple and Frank Hester.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET

It is expected that the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to be held Friday evening, Feb. 11, will be an occasion of deep interest. The meetings have been bringing out larger numbers of interested citizens from time to time and much work of civic import has been effected. It is hoped that many more will begin to take interest in the work of the Chamber. The Chamber of Commerce is merely a body of citizens. Anyone can become a member and it is desired to have a large and active membership. Come out to this meeting and learn the plans for civic welfare. At this meeting the standing committees for the year will be appointed. Mr. Wilmet Parcher will deliver an address which will be both entertaining and instructive, and will be of a reminiscent nature. He will be followed by City Manager T. W. Watson. It is the desire of the members of the Chamber to have many additions to their numbers at this meeting.

P. E. O. RECIPROCITY DAY

Guests and P. E. O. members from Los Angeles, Pasadena, South Pasadena, Alhambra, Hollywood, Monrovia and other nearby cities responded to the invitations extended by the P. E. O. chapter of Glendale for the 12 o'clock "Tray" luncheon and Reciprocity Day program given in the attractive home of Mrs. A. W. Randolph at 865 South Glendale avenue, Wednesday.

In keeping with February, the patriotic month, the rooms turned over for the use of the guests were beautifully artistic in their decorations of American flags, showers of red and white carnations, with an entire background of greenery. As completely as possible, the elaborate menu was carried out in the brilliant color scheme prevailing. A short open business meeting preceded the luncheon. Before the opening number on the program, the club's president, Mrs. A. W. Tower, gave an address of welcome to the guests, which was graciously responded to by Mrs. Smith of Hollywood, state president of the P. E. O. Following this was an excellent program, the numbers given being those of American composers only:

1. A Cycle of Song . . . Cadman
 - (a) A Dawning
 - (b) Lenore
 - (c) I Heard a Thrush at Eve
- Mrs. Patience Beatty
- Mrs. Geo. U. Moyse, Accompanist
2. Piano Solo, "A Lullaby". Nevin
- Mrs. Eva Cunningham
3. Vocal Solo, "Mavourneen". Arthur Foote
- Miss Ione Gale
4. Reading, "Mrs. Aptwood's Adventure". Mrs. H. D. Goss
5. Original Compositions . . . Mrs. Carrie Stone
- (a) Rain Song
- (b) Babykins Train
- (c) Wee White Bark

Assisting Mrs. Randolph were Mrs. A. W. Tower, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. Chas. H. Temple, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. Gus Pulliam, Mrs. Ed. M. Lee, Mrs. Frank H. Dickman, Mrs. Lydia Border, Miss Lorraine Mitchell and Miss Ruth Byram.

SILVIUS FOR CITY TRUSTEE

F. D. Silvius, who resides at 1456 West Colorado street, Glendale, has announced himself as a candidate for the office of trustee of the City of Glendale. Mr. Silvius came about three years ago to Glendale from Iowa, in which state he had been honored with township and city official positions. Since becoming a resident of Glendale he has been engaged in the real estate business. He is the owner of considerable property and if elected city trustee he says he would work for the interest of the taxpayers by favoring a progressive but economical administration. Mr. Silvius expects to be in the race to the finish and asks for your support next April 10.

The next meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is to be the annual Willard Commemorative meeting, Friday afternoon, February 18, at the home of Mrs. P. A. C. Moore, 1543 Salem St., between Second and Third on West side. The usual annual offering will be taken.

TROPICO

Owing to the illness of Mrs. John Hyde Braly, regent of the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, the regular monthly meeting of the chapter was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. D. Chamberlin, 1221 Maple avenue. Mrs. C. W. Houston, vice regent, presided in a most gracious and charming manner.

Mrs. T. W. Preston, recording secretary, gave a most complete report which demonstrated the fact that this chapter composed of the lineal descendants of the grand old patriots of the Revolution accomplish much good for the less fortunate ones as well as bring honor to their chapter and happiness to themselves. In Mrs. Rochester's report of the charitable feature of the chapter, it was learned that 552 garments of good warm clothing had been donated to the Utah street all-night and day nursery as well as many other little donations contributed to the inmates of the nursery.

Mrs. Braly contemplates attending the national convention of the D. A. R., which meets in Washington, D. C., during the month of April. Mrs. Rochester was selected as an alternate to Mrs. Braly. Other delightful features of the afternoon were the excellent talk given by the hostess, Mrs. Chamberlin, on the aims, needs and requirements of the Utah maternity home; and a paper by Mrs. Wayland Chapman; this was read by Mrs. Chapman a few weeks since before the Ebell club of Pomona. At the request of the members of the chapter the paper is given in full:

"Painting of the Colonial Period: The development of art in a nation like ours, built up through Colonial expansion, must differ from that of an older civilization. In Egypt and Greece we trace the History of Art from prehistoric times. From the first gropings of that primitive people toward artistic expansion, it follows the natural order of racial progress.

"Art in the United States has resettled from the removing, mostly, of highly civilized people into primitive surroundings. While the Colonists themselves were of advanced intelligence, their environment was for so long unfavorable to artistic growth. But when the growth did begin it proves interesting.

"Most of the Colonists were familiar with European cities and carried into this wilderness the memory of a long established art, as expressed in fine buildings or public monuments and paintings. But they were plunged at once into a struggle with the heavy problems of a pioneer life and the stern exigencies of this task demanded all their powers. Anything like decorative art or painting was out of the question.

"Landscape painting, as we understand it, is a product of the 19th century, and was not known to the people of that earlier day. Portraiture alone afforded a field for Colonial endeavor and almost from the first there were 'limners' (or portrait painters) at work upon portraits which form the stage of our artistic history. During the reign of King George, when Boston was scarcely larger than Glendale and Tropico, at this time, there hung in the library of Harvard University a copy of the Cardinal Bentivoglio's by John Symbert, the first English artist of any note. This picture, although nothing but a pale reflection of a master work, served a number of young American painters as chief object of inspiration, Copley, Trumbull and William Peale copying it in turn.

"Copley was born in Boston in 1637 and was the only American artist of this period who did meritorious work, before he came under foreign influence. His large compositions, 'Death of the Earl of Cathoni,' 'The Death of Major Pierson,' established his fame in England. To our art only the portraits which he painted in Boston are of importance. They show us the interior of the Royalist era, with carved chairs, and showy draperies, peopled with well-to-do men and women, lavishly robed in ruffles and silver buckles, gold embroidered waist coats and rich brocaded gowns. He went abroad in 1774, to work in his art. Copley's contemporary was Benjamin West. He was born in 1738 in Pennsylvania. In 1760 West went to Rome, where he climbed to the very pinnacle of social, if not artistic success. As a close friend of the king he was almost exclusively employed as his historical painter. Young American artists who went to Europe for more education and work, and if they were taken in by West, to his studio and introduced to his friends, it was quite a feather in the cap of the young Americans. The influence of West was felt and an inspiration to many a poor Quaker, which served as an encouragement to take up painting as a profession. Philadelphia afforded opportunity for the growth of Art and a moderate patronage.

"Charles Peale was born in 1741 and established the first art gallery, a museum of history, and portraits in his residence at the corner of Third and Lombard streets, Philadelphia, and helped to found the Philadelphia Academy in 1805, of which he was director until 1810.

"Gilbert Stuart and John Trumbull were then making themselves famous. Gilbert Stuart was a remarkable colourist and portrait painter; he had no superior on this side of the Atlantic; his work was as delicate and refined as his contemporaries abroad. Romney and Gainsborough and Stuart painted many notables in the Union. Among them George Washington, who "sat" for Stuart three times. His richness of flesh tints and unerring precision in modeling the face, without the help of upthines, he remained true to his maxim, 'There are no lines in nature.' As they did not have photography in those days, the people who were able, had portraits of themselves and other members of their family.

"Trumbull was a different type. Yet we appreciate his glorification of his 'Battle of Bunker Hill,' 'Death of Montgomery' and 'Declaration of Independence.' During Trumbull's days of triumph America had now become an independent nation and everywhere a restless activity set in (and we still have that restless activity, I think). So the growth of art was rather handicapped by their conditions. The Royalists were really the only ones who could afford the luxuries of art, and had left the country. The remaining Colonists were too busy with their material welfare to enthuse much upon a piece of art, so in the first twenty years of the 19th century our art life was still utterly insignificant.

"Then came Thomas Sully, John Vanderlyn and Washington Allston.

"While the second war with Great Britain was raging in the North, Sully, having chosen Philadelphia for his permanent home, rapidly became the most fashionable portrait painter of the day, and many an old Philadelphia family had a sweet faced or handsome woman to be portrayed. At the historical portrait exhibition, at the Philadelphia Academy in 1887-88, Sully was represented by 106 pictures showing extraordinary powers of conception and execution. In the year 1838 Sully did a full-length portrait of Queen Victoria. About the same time Sully depicted Pennsylvania's ladies of fashion.

"Vanderlyn was then living in Rome, 'In the house that Salvator Rosa once occupied,' painted his 'Adriadine,' and Allston was at work in Cambridgeport at his enormous canvas of 'Belshazzar's Feast.' Vanderlyn did some very splendid work in nude, the innocent repose and unconscious loveliness of his Adriadine seems impossible to obtain. At that time realism was still unknown and the figure is, in consequence, an ideal one but so beautifully modelled and

BURBANK

Miss Claire Glenn was a recent dinner guest at the S. B. Jones home in Glendale.

Work has commenced on the new J. T. Bates residence at Magnolia and Fourth streets.

Mr. Field had the rock blasted off his lot at the end of Olive street the latter part of last week.

P. A. Farley is reported recuperating from a serious illness which has confined him to his home recently.

Mr. C. E. Hams of the Valley Furniture store has purchased a Stoddard-Dayton touring car during the past week.

Mrs. A. L. Watson of Burbank spent several days during the past week at the home of Mrs. Z. L. Bathrick in Tropico.

Mr. C. P. Hancock and family and mother, Mrs. Wellborn, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Stebbins, motored over from Riverside Sunday, visiting at the M. C. Paxton home.

The circulation of the Burbank branch of the County Library has increased wonderfully since the first of the year. There seems to be a demand for the opening of the library the third afternoon during the week. At present the reading room is open all day, but it is impossible to secure books except the two afternoons the librarian is present. Miss Gladys Paxton is the librarian.

Valentine Dance

A jolly time is planned by the younger set of Burbank Saturday evening when they will hold a Valentine dance at the I. O. O. F. hall. Bush's orchestra of Los Angeles will furnish the music for the light fan-tastics. Refreshments, of course, will be on hand. A great number have signified their intention of attending.

Business Picking Up

Ward Shelton, of the firm of McGuire & Shelton, reports that the grocery business is perceptibly picking up. Ranchers are doing more buying and money is loosening up all over, is the way this enterprising young merchant looks at the business situation.

At Burbank's High School

When Burbank sent Hugh Pomeroy to Citrus Union High school last Friday night to take part in an extemporaneous debate on School Athletics home-town folks knew there would be but one result. Hugh would win. He did. Here is the standing of the contestants:

Pomeroy, Burbank, 94 1/4 per cent.

Baker, Citrus Union, 90 1-3 per cent.

Nye, Covina, 90 per cent.

Stevens, Chaffey Union, 84 2-3 per cent.

"Hugh Pomeroy has been the backbone of Burbank's debating teams. He is a most remarkable student and possesses fine faculties for speech," says Superintendent M. M. Livingston of the High School.

Tuskegee's famous singers appeared at the High School last Monday evening and pleased a crowded auditorium. Thirty dollars was the amount of contributions given by those in attendance. This money was sent to the treasurer of the Tuskegee school.

Miss Eloise Horton of Hollywood has transferred her enrollment from Hollywood High to Burbank during the past week. Miss Horton is a sophomore.

The enrollment of the midwinter class at Burbank amounted to ten pupils. Principal Livingston states that a course including algebra, penmanship and spelling, ancient history, music and drawing has been arranged for the incoming class.

As soon as dark screens are procured for the High School study hall, Dr. George LaMont Cole of Los Angeles will give one of his popular lectures with illustrations by pictures on the Cliffdweller's.

New Grammar School Building

Directly opposite the old Burbank grammar school is being erected a new school building which will prove a show place for the city. Situated near the San Fernando boulevard this old mission style building with its open cloister walls amid the pepper trees, its artistic effect is perfect.

As to construction of the building, it has six class rooms, including primary and kindergarten departments. It also has a teacher's room, library, and in the basement boys' and girls' playrooms. In the court at the front a playground is provided.

Plaster walls will cover the interlocking hollow tile construction which has been deemed best, as it is cooler and drier than the brick construction. The building is much the same in construction as that at La Crescenta, except the Burbank school is larger.

May Bros., contractors and builders of Glendale, have the general contract, while J. W. Parish is superintendent of construction for the school board.

Notes of Trustees' Session

When President Blanchard called

Burbank's regular weekly trustees' meeting to order last Tuesday afternoon every officer except Trustee Hogle was present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A communication from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company was read in which it was stated that the company accepted the franchise which had been ordered filed by the board. This one communication was practically all of the official business although several other matters were taken up for premature consideration.

At the close of the meeting Frank Goodrich invited the board to look over some grading done at the head of Olive street. This the board did, after adjourning.

Following are the demands which were allowed:

LA CANADA NOTES

Mrs. Dwight Cooper spent Tuesday in Pasadena visiting relatives.

Miss Katherine Hegeman of Los Angeles was the week-end guest of Miss Gladys Granger.

Mrs. Charles Pate has been confined to her home on account of tonsilitis, but is now greatly improved.

It has been reported that Charles Pence is considering the erection of a new home on Ohio street.

Mr. T. F. Loftus of Hollywood was a Sunday dinner guest at the B. D. Jackson home.

Voters can register at J. W. Stultz' La Canada store, Saturday, Feb. 12, from 2 to 5 p. m.

Mr. W. F. Metzger has rented the new bungalow constructed by Mr. Cooper on Michigan avenue and the family will move in this week.

Mr. D. A. Peet has returned to Antelope Valley. He made the trip by horse and buggy. The roads are reported as in a bad condition, but are passable.

Dr. Archer and his wife spent last Tuesday in Glendale. In the afternoon Mrs. Archer attended the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which she is a member.

The cousin of Mrs. A. G. Williams, Bishop Bashford of China, has left on a lecture tour in the north. His wife and daughter are staying at the Westmore in Los Angeles. Bishop Bashford expects to return to California in March, and then he will return to the East.

Mrs. Charles Olsen has just received the announcement of the marriage of her brother James Younger, to a Minneapolis girl. Mr. Younger is well known to the young people of the valley, as he lived here for some time.

The J. H. Nicholsons are now comfortably settled in their cozy new home on Haskell avenue. The house is a six-room bungalow which is pleasantly situated with a fine view throughout the valley. Mr. Nicholson is beginning premature work on beautifying and improving the grounds.

Residents of the valley will be sorry to hear about the death of Mr. Bradford. The family resided on Michigan avenue. Mr. Bradford and his wife moved to our valley several months ago, hoping that his health would improve, but instead he grew worse. A few weeks before his death he moved to Huntington Park, and it was here he passed away. Mrs. Bradford expects to make her home in Los Angeles.

The La Canada Valley Improvement association held its regular meeting Saturday night, Feb. 5, in the Club hall. A large crowd was present. The meeting was opened by Pres. Brooks. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The report of the committee on the matter of buying a new piano was read and accepted. The committee was continued on for 2 weeks longer. The question of what to do with the money that was left over from the float then arose. It was moved and seconded to place this in a separate fund for the float for next year. After the meeting was adjourned a program was enjoyed.

Colonel Sobieski was sick and unable to attend the meeting. Mrs. Max Green was asked to give a few selections, which she kindly consented to do. These selections were greatly enjoyed by the audience. Refreshments of home-made doughnuts and coffee were served.

The P. T. A. held its regular monthly meeting Friday, Feb. 4, at 2:30 o'clock. A large crowd was present. Mrs. R. S. Lanterman, president of the P. T. A., gave an extract from her diary of the first Xmas in La Canada. This was an exceedingly interesting paper. Mrs. C. F. Pate and Mrs. Max Green each read a paper, which were enjoyed by all present. The school children furnished an excellent program. One of the most entertaining numbers for the afternoon was two piano selections by Miss Joan Smalley. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The P. T. A. has organized sewing and cooking department. The girls and women will be taught how to make over clothes and also how to cut and make new garments. A large number is expected to join this department. In the cooking department the children will be taught how to serve as well as cook. It will be announced later when the first meeting of these departments will be held.

Thursday Club Meets

Thursday afternoon of this week the Thursday club of La Canada met at the pretty country home of Mrs. James Penfield of Hillyard avenue. About twenty ladies were present and enjoyed the following interesting program: Roll call, original Valentines; paper, South America, Mrs. Johnson; discourse on two operas by Verdi, The Sacrifice, The Pipe of Desire, Mrs. McDonald; discourse on myths, Psyche and Eros, Mrs. Brooks; reports of critics.

Meeting of Y. P. S. C. E.

The Christian Endeavor society will hold its regular monthly business meeting and social at the parsonage Friday, February 11. After the business of the society has been transacted the meeting will be turned over to the social committee. Various games and amusements have been planned for the evening. Refreshments will be served. Everyone is most cordially invited to come and enjoy a pleasant evening. The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church of Pasadena have been invited to join us this meeting and so an unusually good time is expected.

Kitchen Shower for Miss Lyons

Mrs. R. B. Waterman and Mrs. I. H. Nyby were the hostesses at a most delightful kitchen shower given in honor of Miss Blanche Lyons, a bride-elect.

The thirty friends present spent a most enjoyable evening with music and games and after the opening of the many packages with kitchen utensils by the honoree light refreshments were served. The shower took place at the Waterman home.

Miss Lyons will again be honored later this week when a linen shower will be tendered her at the home of her brother, Mr. Robert Lyons in Glendale. Miss Lyons will become the bride of Mr. Edwin Ballenger during the latter part of the month.
